PROFILE

Architect, designer, dreamer and visionary, world- traveller, free spirit, and practical mind, Ioanna has worked on several and diverse projects, around various sections of her area of expertise while she speaks fluently Greek, English, Italian, very good Spanish and rather well French.

Professionally active as a freelance architect as well as a designer, she is focusing on three main areas. From building projects for major architecture firms and residential-commercial space design to production design and art direction for demanding TV shows and commercials, Ioanna is a restless soul, literally and professionally speaking.

Experienced in all stages of project design and management, from conceptual development and creative design, producing to operational design, scheduling, budgeting, on-site supervision and the overall successful completion of the projects handled.

She has created numerous small and large-scale designs by applying the industrial design principles, the various construction techniques, and the materials technology.

Additional projects include an assortment of international live events such as music concerts, fashion shows, street events and corporate retreats.
